

The portal RCAAP provides access to the scientific and academic literature in open access. However, there may be some documents that do not meet these requirements, either because they are in restricted access due to the embargo.

In addition to searching the Portuguese scientific production, can also search the Brazilian scientific production constant in repositories and journals aggregated by OASISbr project . When you select a document from the list of results, the RCAAP portal access to their full content is performed in the source repository of the document.

For more information, see the list of aggregated repositories in the directory RCAAP .

If you wish to deposit the scientific literature, contact the repository administrator of your institution. The list of participating institutions can be found here . If your institution has no repository, please contact us via the
