

The symbol was created from four tones, which must be followed.

Here are displayed the colors direct to your creation as well as the corresponding values ??in RGB and full color.

Behavior with one colour

Where there is need to print only one color, you must use the Pantone 532, or white color.

Chromatic behavior on a colored background

It is recommended that the logo is used only on the colors that do not lose their readability, either the positive or negative, according to the examples above.

Chromatic behavior on photo backgrounds

When used on photographic backgrounds, should be borne in mind that these arrangements for maintaining the legibility of the logo, either the positive or negative.